March 2018

First Wednesday
Talk:
Presidents Appointing Judges
March 7th,
7 p.m.

As UVM professor Lisa Holmes explains, while presidents have long used judicial appointments to tilt the judiciary in one direction or another, less common historically have been presidents gaining great political benefit from appointing judges for ideological reasons. Its impact on the health of the judiciary remains to be seen.

Birds, Bees, and Butterflies in the Land of Milk and Honey*
– The challenges &
what we can do

Tuesday, March 20th at 7:30 p.m.

Addison County used to be known as the “Land of Milk and Honey.” Today the honeybee faces many affronts to its immune system in these days of habitat destruction and pesticide overload. The high colony loss challenges facing beekeepers and the declining bird, butterfly and native bee populations makes it all the more imperative that local beekeepers, farmers, gardeners and homeowners learn healthy ways to assist pollinators and improve their chances of survival. Local beekeeper Ross Conrad will share the “how to” of numerous techniques and lay out a map that we can use to reduce stresses on pollinator health. Come and find out what you can do to help. Sponsored by the Middlebury branch of AAUW.

Middlebury Community Classic Film Club Film Screening

Friday, March 23, 3 – 5:30 p.m.

Around the world filmmakers have contributed greatly to our shared culture by creating classic films that push our thinking and the boundaries of our understanding. Through technology, we now have greater access to these classics than ever before. The purpose of the Middlebury Community Classic Film Club (MCCFC) is to share classic films representing a diversity of topics, perspectives, and geographic origins. All are welcome to watch the film and discuss it afterwards.
